

Weekly report

2012-6-25    ~~    2012-7-1

In this week, I mainly focused my attention on writing the survey on perception-based volume visualization. Although this task has been completed about 40~50%, I will finish it as soon as I can and hand it over. The very time consuming things is the writing of introduction and some contexts about perception and volume rendering, which connect paragraphs to a whole article. The revision of the textbook is on-going, but for some private things in this weekend, I need some more time to finish it.

In the next week, I will first try to finish the textbook writing in a few days. I also try to finish the survey before the next weekend. However, first of all, I should revise the patents with lawyer tomorrow afternoon.